Dear Sirs

Thank you very much for enquiring about a Wild Owl educational visit, giving adults and children an unique opportunity to learn about wild British owls and their conservation.

I am a very experienced presenter and have given over 1000 talks to both adults and childrens groups over the years.

The main focus of my presentations is British owls, which is my speciality, but I also have a few other presentations that I offer (see booking pack)

Whilst my aim is to provide an entertaining visit, there is a serious conservation theme running through all my work, and my goal is to both captivate and also inspire my audiences, young and old, and raise awareness of issue affecting owls and other wildlife and why its important to look after the countryside and provide habitats for these birds and other wildlife.

Many parts of my work features photography from my own personal archive of over 10,000 wildlife photographs, which I hope will enhance your enjoyment of my visit. These graphics are presented by a digital projector at larger venues, and with laptop computer and I-pad in other situations.

I have attached a general visiting information flyer, plus a booking pack which gives details of my services and pricing

I trust that you will find the attached of interest and look forward to bringing my services to your school.

If you have not already visited the Wild Owl website, please take a look at www.wildowl.co.uk where you can find detailed information on my work, the services I offer and also downloads for marketing my visit.

Thank you again and I look forward to receiving the booking slip back in due course.

Kind regards

Ian McGuire
